

CONGRATULATIONS

We have heard of the new arrival at your home, and we are pleased to extend our congratulations and best wishes to both mother and baby. May health and happiness attend the new lot, and may the safety and security of home and mother-love guard and direct the little feet through infancy, childhood, and youth. We send you this little brochure in the hope that the facts and figures found herein may prove of use and interest, and that the blank spaces designed for baby's record may be filled with those little incidents of babyhood so fondly cherished in later years.

Sincerely yours,

FARRANE RESEARCH CO.

41 St. James' Place

FARRANE, 1954